INTRODUCTION

Searchlight is a leading provider of training services within the insurance sector. We are delighted to announce our new partnership with the MGAA to support raising professional standards and learning and development opportunities for its members.

Whether you are looking for technical, regulatory compliance, business and soft skills, leadership and management or professional development programs, Searchlight has the training expertise available to support your growing MGA business.

Searchlight has been operating for over twenty years, and our nationwide and ROI team of trainers have a working knowledge of insurance and the need for professional development. They are chosen for their ability to bring their subject matter to life with energy, enthusiasm and an understanding of the work that our delegates do on a daily basis.

Training can be provided using a variety of modern delivery methods, including within face to face classrooms, virtual workshops, pre-recorded webinars and podcasts, and through the use of online learning.

MGAA members have the added benefit of access to exclusive discounted rates on our training for MGAs of at least 30%, making professional development more accessible to the membership.

insurance sector

YOUR TRAINING DEPARTMENT

Searchlight's proposition for MGAA members is driven by helping you source the right training for your business. As well as providing a regular calendar of discounted training events for MGAs, we can also source other training solutions for your staff development needs.

Need a training solution, but don't know where to start? Your Searchlight Relationship Manager is on hand to work with you, saving you time and resource.

We have a large catalogue of courses to work from and a team of specialists who can write, design and tailor the training to suit all audiences, whatever their level.

Contact us today to arrange an online introduction to your MGAA Relationship Manager.
